

Please do not change from FM translators to LPFM. KLOVE and other family friendly stations that operate from FM translators would be lost to us. These stations currently fill a void in today's radio programming that is void of anything wholesome. KLOVE and others like it provide an invaluable service in my community by offering positive and encouraging programming with an uplifting message. It is just not possible to turn to any other programming on the air that I know for a fact will not include any sexual comments or advertising. My 17 year old & 4 year old can both listen and I don't have to fear what they will hear or switch it when the conversation goes to such subjects. Please don't make the change. Albuquerque and any city across the nation for that matter deserve decent family friendly programming. Please don't add to the degradation of this society.
